

Investment objective

Premium Equity Russia is invested in the shares and depositary receipts of Russian companies and of foreign companies operating in Russia and CIS. The investment portfolio is built on divergences between the IMOEX index and the fund's positions using a relatively small number of equities selected for their 'low price' appeal. The bigger the difference between a stock's assessed value and its price, the heavier the fund's overweight versus the benchmark for that holding. Conversely, the more the equity price rises above its value, the larger the fund's underweight versus the benchmark.
